PROGRAM

Life Unplugged!

TIME

30-90 minutes

GRADES

9-12

Has there ever been a time when you simply wanted to get off the high-speed train of life and take a break? Young people struggle with a host of issues including: relationships, fitting in, alcohol, tobacco, sex, responsibility, character, college, respect, and a variety of cultural issues.

It's not enough to merely motivate a young person to behave in certain ways, they must understand "why" and their purpose for positively contributing to society.

This program is based upon Egypt's book, "Life. The Struggle Within", and will set your students on their way to powerful lives that will be centered upon right things—Attitude, Character and Values!

Egypt McKee is a gifted speaker and communicator that motivate Young Men & Women to tap into their purpose and potential in life by connecting with them through his high-energy presentations and relevant message.

This program can be modified to address certain issues and depth of content depending upon the audience and time availability.

WHAT ARE PEOPLE SAYING?

This is my fourth year hearing Egypt speak at our high school—every time he speaks, I learn something new that changes my life. I'm glad I have his book to read now that I'm going to college in the fall.

~Meagan, Orange County, California

Dude, I never heard a speaker like you before! My dad left when I was little and I don't get along with my mom, but you really helped me know how to stop to cycle of failure in my life so I can be a better person for my mom and girlfriend. ~Ethan, Hebron, Kentucky

You are the funniest person I ever heard. Thank you for respecting me instead of speaking down to me like my parents. I want to read your book and be the young man you said I could be. Thanks bro. ~Dillon, Orange County, California

Human Sex Trafficking

TIME

The world in which we live is overrun by threats both overt and covert in nature. Far too long have we recognized the mounting threats embedded within our societies of drugs, alcohol and sex.

There is a new threat, which dwarfs the drug and alcohol trade combined—Human Sex Trafficking. Sadly, most people fail to realize this radically growing epidemic, while local law enforcement has limited resources and capabilities to effectively identify or combat it.

Every School, public and private, should hear what Egypt McKee has to say about this widely unspoken threat to young children, teenagers and young adults. There are literally thousands of young girls and boys that are being abducted everyday into a life of sex slavery here in the United States and globally. There is nothing comfortable about presenting this program, yet rest assured it is necessary.

The facts surrounding Human Sex Trafficking are ugly, yet growth trends continue to point toward suburban and urban communities. It's not enough to have heard about it—invite Egypt McKee to educate your staff, students and parents in doing something about it.
